

BIG SLICE IN RAILROADS' PAYROLL NEAR

ELECTION FOR PARLIAMENT IN IRELAND

BELFAST, May 24.—Elections for the new parliament in Ireland under the Irish home rule bill were carried out throughout Ireland today, but only in the north of Ireland were the Irish parliament were made without contest, which was tantamount to election.

After an early start this morning to vote for the members of its new parliament under the system of proportional representation, which few here confess they understand. The streets of Belfast were awake a full hour before the accustomed time, motor cars, horse and jaunting cars and the humble donkey-drawn cart moving from one side of the city to the other with voters both men and women.

The people had been appealed to by the leaders to vote early to prevent "personation" and at most of the polling booths crowds were waiting at eight a. m. the opening hour. For either side to bring in personators would not be difficult, as in such districts as Rathfriland, the "Nationalists" will not even have watchers, as they say it would be suicide for any of their number to enter the polling booths there. The Unionists, on the other hand, would not feel comfortable in Falls Road, although there were plenty of police and military there to protect them.

Counting of the votes will not commence until nine o'clock Wednesday evening. It is possible the Belfast results will be known Wednesday night, but the others will not be in for several days.

Even Belfast, accustomed to hot political fights, has never seen such a election morning as this. Thus far it has been more of a fight to get to the polls ahead of opponents than a stand up battle, but this rush led to some incidents, especially in the Cork street, and old lodge near the docks. As soon as the military were withdrawn from the streets at 5 o'clock this morning when the curfew ended, the rival factions appeared at the doors of their homes with their women folk to proceed to the polls. Bricks and stones commenced to fly across the streets and a few shots were fired before the police arrived to disperse the disputants. One constable was seriously injured by being hit with a brick.

No Reason To Seize Ruhr, Says Briand

Women Smoke At Tobacco Exhibit

PARIS, May 24.—Premier Briand, questioned by a group of deputies before the meeting of the chamber today, said there was no reason for the occupation of the Ruhr region because the aspect of the Silesian question had been changed, and if the Ruhr were occupied without the support of the allies it would be equivalent to abandonment of the treaty of Versailles.

BERLIN, May 24.—Reports from Oppeln say the Poles and Germans are engaged in heavy artillery and machine gun firing along the Oder.

PARIS, May 24.—Fighting between Germans and Poles in Silesia has created a new crisis over the policy to be followed by the allied nations regarding that former province of Germany, and it had a distant influence on debate in the French chamber of deputies when it convened today.

The Silesia situation developed rapidly last night, and demands for the occupation of the Ruhr region of Germany were again heard.

It appeared to be the avowed purpose of the opposition to force M. Briand to state the position of the government, and many deputies were prepared to demand immediate occupation of the Ruhr district of Germany should the Berlin government refuse to take steps to withdraw German troops from the plebiscite zone without delay.

Details of the premier's policy were more or less of a mystery here this morning, although there was much speculation by newspapers. None of them, however, was able to give the slightest inkling of the attitude M. Briand would take.

The Journal expressed the opinion that there was no doubt that decisions had been reached at the cabinet meeting held yesterday.

LONDON, May 24.—Germany's reply to the representations of Great Britain and France for an embargo against the entry of troops or ammunition into Upper Silesia is generally regarded in official circles here as satisfactory.

A disposition also is noted on the part of Poland to attempt to control the insurgents occupying the disputed area. These considerations, together with the despatch of between 3,000 and 4,000 British troops from the Rhine, which are preparing to move, are inspiring a more hopeful attitude toward the Silesian problem. A final settlement, however, awaits a meeting of the supreme council, which will probably be held in Boulogne at the end of this week.

JAPANESE AND MEXICAN SNARLS MAY SOON BE UNTANGLED BY HUGHES

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1921, by Time, Inc. Co.)
WASHINGTON, May 24.—Two delicate situations in international affairs involving future relations between the United States and Mexico on the one hand and the United States and Japan on the other, have progressed to the vital point where the Department of State hopes irritating comments from the press of the three countries will be avoided so that a satisfactory settlement can be reached.

Optimism as to the clearing up of two disputes is plainly reflected here but the job ahead of Secretary Hughes in negotiating with the Obregon government on the question of recognition is one on which the Wilson administration was able to make little headway. This was not because of the way the thing was handled for the Harding regime has asked for practically the same thing from Mexico but because the Mexican authorities believed they could get better terms from the Republicans than the Democrats, she waited.

Mexico Playing Careful Game—Mexico is playing a careful game—no pressure has been exerted to obtain recognition from the United States, no outward effort has been made that could be denounced by the anti-American elements in Mexico as an attempt to carry favor with the United States. On the other hand, President Obregon needs the recognition of the United States because it means recognition by the other governments of the world. It means economic stimulus. To put the question on a solid material basis however, would only give President Obregon's enemies a chance to start a revolution against him. The United States on the other hand cannot afford to accept at Mexico have given and then ignored assurances are embodied in a protocol or any other form of an agreement it is confidently expected that a definite promise will be given by the Mexican government to treat Americans and their interests equitably or else recognition will be inevitably withheld. The written assurances, so whether the Mexican government has insisted that to sign a protocol would be humiliating and would give internal factions an opportunity to raise the cry that Obregon "has sold out to the Americans" (Continued on Page Six)

What Color Do You Want?

NEW YORK, May 24.—Ladies' eye lashes have become saleable articles. The dressing table if lady's boudoir may now be adorned, in addition to numerous other things that admirers assume to be natural, with artificial lashes that paste on right over the regular ones.

This innovation in feminine attractiveness was on display here today at the American Ladies' Hair Dressing Association Exhibition.

Other nature savers included a half bobbed wig to cover old-fashioned long hair, thus relieving the necessity of cutting it.

Ten To Fifteen Percent Cut On 100 Roads Is Expected

CHICAGO, May 24.—The rates of pay and classifications established by the railroad labor board's wage award of July, 1920, will be used as the basis of reductions when the board hands down its new wage decision on June 1. It was learned today. The board has arrived at tentative percentages which will cut the present rates from 10 to 15 percent, according to the class of employees affected.

When the wage reduction decision is made next week, it will follow closely the form of decision Number 2, which granted the $600,000,000 increase a year ago. The classifications of employees will remain nearly the same, some slight changes being made in certain clerical divisions.

No estimate of the number of employees affected nor of the total slice in the railroad payroll has yet been made by the board, but figures discussed in railroad circles place the cut at between $550,000,000 and $400,000,000. Employees of nearly 100 roads will be included in the board's decision of June 1, and it was said that the percentage of reduction for each class of labor would be uniform for all roads.

CHANGE OF STYLES BLAMED FOR HUGE LOSSES, PUBLIC SAYS

CHICAGO, May 24.—Huge losses through industrial waste are being saddled upon the nation, it was declared today at a national forum held in connection with the meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. Leading engineers, manufacturers, technologists and educators heard a sharp indictment of methods in American industry by L. W. Wallace, of Washington, executive secretary of the American Engineering Council of the Federated American Engineering Societies, who asserted that "stupidous waste" could be wiped out by applying the principles of the engineer.

"The American people," he said, "were paying a stupendous subsidy through changing styles in women's hats, shoes and millinery. Every time fashion decreed a slight change in the cut of the lapel of a man's coat, more waste occurred, he said. Lack of effective planning for elevators in great centers like Chicago and New York industrial design of locomotives and the commission system in house and building were adding to the people's burdens," he said.

Mr. Wallace gave the first official findings of the American Engineering Council's committee on elimination of waste in industry appointed by Herbert Hoover. This committee, of which Mr. Wallace is vice chairman, has for several months been conducting a nation-wide assay of waste.

"In the manufacture and sale of ladies' hats, shoes and millinery," said Mr. Wallace, "there is great waste through changing styles. Who is responsible? The designer, the manufacturer and the dealer will tell you that the woman demand radical and frequent changes. The woman will earnestly insist that she would be content to wear last year's dress if it were not out of style. A prominent locomotive builder was able to build 163 standard designed locomotives in five weeks, while it was able to produce only 104 locomotives in industrial design in the same period. A loss of production due to lack of standardization.

"Twenty-five percent reduction in production, possibly occurred in every men's ready-made clothing plant investigated that added a slight style change in the cut of the lapel of the coat."

Held In Contempt Of Court

COLUMBUS, O., May 24.—The supreme court today held Dr. Robert C. Helfelover, Cincinnati, to be in contempt of court in the Cincinnati insolvent court for failure to pay his divorced wife, Helka V. Helfelover, $30 a month. Helfelover was granted a divorce September 15, 1910, and ordered to pay $30 a month alimony. In April, 1918, Mrs. Helfelover filed charges of contempt, claiming her former husband was in default $745. He contested the right of the court to make the order for alimony and won in the court of appeals, but the supreme court today reversed the decision of the court of appeals, holding that he should have raised the question of the jurisdiction of the court at the time the order was made.

The supreme court sustained the Cincinnati Insolvency court and the Hamilton court of appeals in dismissing the petition of Aura A. Garver against her former husband, Leonard Garver for an order to compel him to pay her alimony.

The court sustained a motion made by the Ohio Electric Railway Co., to review a case in the Hamilton county courts in which the Ohio Electric won a judgment in the common pleas court for $253,742.06 against the United States Express Co. for breach of contract, but which judgment was reversed by the Hamilton county court of appeals.

The board of county commissioners of Greene county was held to be contempt of court for failure to proceed in a ditch improvement in Greene county in a manner stipulated by the court of appeals of that county.

Five Mediums For Democracy's Rise To Success, Suggested By Bryan In Columbus Speech

COLUMBUS, O., May 24.—William Jennings Bryan brought a message of hope and cheer to members of the Jefferson Club at their picnic here yesterday.

"If anyone can preach the gospel of hope, it is the man who has been resurrected so many times that death seems commonplace," Mr. Bryan said in reference to his appearance.

"Leading directly up to his subject, 'Democracy's Opportunity,' Bryan mentioned five mediums through which the Democratic party might rise to success. They were a national bulletin for the dissemination of unbiased political news and party opinions, prohibition, reduction of taxes, a proper alignment of monopolies and disarmament of a feature of future world peace.

"The most crying need of the country today is the maintenance of un-polluted channels of information, so that the public may know what is going on at Washington," he said.

Mr. Bryan suggested a tentative plan for his proposed national bulletin and added:

"We don't want a congressional record, we don't want a paper such as war, through both are good. We want a daily paper, to be issued by the government whose columns shall be non-partisan, but whose editorials shall be bi-partisan."

Adulterating Whiskey, Charged

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 24.—Drugists profiteering on whiskey sold for medical purposes are to receive the attention of the federal prohibition agents when the full force is again in the field in July, Commissioner Kramer said today. Complaints have been received, he said, that whiskey bought on prescriptions for sick people had in some instances been found to have been adulterated with water and prune juice or other liquids, while sold at the price charged for pure liquor. Any one guilty of such methods, he added, could be prosecuted as a rectifier and his selling permit revoked.

The prosecution charged the aged woman with kidnapping the boy two weeks ago, taking him to a sparsely settled district and killing him by strangulation, to avenge a fancied wrong in a business deal with the boy's father, Frank Ernest. Mrs. Lewen denied the charge.

Want All "The Boys"

E. W. (Pete) Smith has called attention to the fact that the names of two gallant soldiers have been omitted from the list of Scotch County Civil War veterans who are to be honored with a special Chamber of Commerce luncheon on next Thursday evening. They are Messrs. Abe Doll and W. H. (Tip) Massie from out Lucasville way. Both are members of the famous Battery L, First Ohio Light Artillery, and were gallant soldiers in every sense of the word. The list published in The Times is merely a tentative one, the names of as many of the soldiers as could be secured being used. The Chamber of Commerce wants it understood that all of the "Boys of '61" are invited and urged to come to the luncheon.

Groh May Go To Brooklyn Team

That there is "something doing" in the Helene Groh situation was intimated in a telegram received, Monday, by C. H. Samson, business manager of Shultz's Stars, from the manager of the Pleasant Hill team, Cincinnati. Groh, it will be recalled, has been refused to sign a contract with the Cincinnati Reds and has become the real "hold out" in the National league. He has been playing with the Pleasant Hill team for the past several weeks and was to have appeared with that club at Coney Island next Sunday. But a message was received by Business Manager Samson, notifying him the game had been cancelled, due to the fact that "Helene Groh" would be back in organized baseball by Wednesday of this week. It is presumed that the Reds have made a deal, transferring Groh to the Brooklyn team, although this is only a probability. A deal has been on between the Reds and Superiors whereby Groh was to go to Brooklyn in exchange for Pitchers Smith and Pfeffer, and $40,000 in cash. Groh, however, will have to sign a deal contract before the deal can be made, or before he can be transferred to any club. Fortunately for Shultz's Stars, Manager William H. Gableman turned over his booking, the Phil Handles, of Columbus, who will play at Coney Island next Sunday. This will give Coney Island fans the best attraction of the season and assure the club of a great crowd. Manager Gableman having cancelled the game at Millbrook Park.

STILLER IS GIVEN MINIMUM FINE

Howard Hutchinson 23 years old, who was taken into custody by the police Sunday at his home 1720 Seventh street on a charge of unlawfully manufacturing intoxicating liquor, drew the minimum fine of $100 and costs on his plea of guilty when arraigned before Judge Sprague in Municipal court Tuesday. A similar charge against his wife Flora Hutchinson was passed by the court and will be disposed of later.

The information on which Hutchinson was arrested was furnished by the wife when in a fit of anger following some difficulty with her husband, telephoned the police. Hutchinson told the court that he had decided to get rid of the still and get out of the liquor business and had buried the outfit with that end in view when arrested. He said that his wife objected to him destroying the still and that much of the trouble grew out of discussions of that subject.

He exonerated his wife from any connection with operating the still or disposing of the product.

There were several hundred Grotto members and candidates in line as the parade moved over the main streets from the Masonic Temple to the All Saints parish house on Fourth street where the degree work was conferred. In the parade was also an ambulance kept near for use by the less sturdy of the candidates.

There will be a recess at six o'clock with a banquet at the Temple after which there will be more work at the Club.

MR. ADAMS MAKES STATEMENT

J. Adams, taxicab driver, believes he was done an injustice in the account of the trouble he had Monday remitting from the claims made by a passenger he had driven about the city, who claimed he had been robbed of his money either in Mr. Adams' taxi, or in some place where he had been driven. Mr. Adams says that he figured in the matter solely as the driver of a public taxi which was for hire. He says it is impossible for the driver of a taxi to know or to attempt to guess what kind of a passenger he has and that when Taylor called for a taxi and directed him to go, certain places he did as directed. He denies that he furnished any liquor to Taylor and says that all he did was to attempt to collect his fare after it had amounted to $15, and that the trouble came following that. He does not want the public to think that he is engaged in an business except the perfectly legitimate one of driving a taxi. The police in their investigation also came to the conclusion that Mr. Adams had done nothing wrong in the matter.

Let Common Sense Keep You Well

If we all lived according to common sense there would be little disease. Knowledge, however, we are inclined to "go it too hard" to overwork, worry, eat and drink too much, to neglect our exercises, rest and sleep. This weakens the kidneys and brings on backache, dizzy, nervous spells, and all the urinary disorders. Don't wait for worse troubles. Strengthen the kidneys. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. They will cure all urinary troubles. By that time the trouble disappeared.

Portsmouth Testimony

Mrs. Peter Dice, 317 W. St., says: "My shock and I had sharp pains through my kidneys. My kidneys didn't get right and I had bladder trouble. Morning and night and all over me. Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me and I kept on using them until I had taken two boxes. By that time the trouble disappeared."

Science Doubles Gasoline Yield

THE pressure still is an example of the constructive service the modern refinery is rendering to the motorist. Along in 1913 when an inadequate supply of gasoline threatened to curtail automotive production, the problem was solved by the invention of the pressure still.

In operation, the pressure still is one of the most interesting and important units of the refinery. By a process commonly known as "cracking" it converts into gasoline a large percentage of heavy distillates which previously could not be utilized for motor fuel. In this manner the gasoline yield from some crude oils has been more than doubled.

It is only by the invention of the pressure still that the tremendously increasing gasoline requirements of the motorists of Ohio have been met. This is evident from the fact that although today there are about nine times as many cars in the state as in 1913, crude oil production over the same period has increased only about 50 per cent.

Since the birth of the automotive industry this company has consistently kept abreast of the requirements of the motorists of Ohio. To keep them supplied with good gasoline, the facilities of four Cleveland and Toledo refineries are concentrated on the manufacture of Red Crown, the gasoline with the complete chain of boiling points.

For dependable lubrication—Polarine Oil, Medium and Heavy, Polarine Transmission Lubricants and Polarine Cup Grease. Fill at the Red Crown Sign—Service Stations and Garages.

Inspiring Music Will Feature Luncheon To "Our Soldier Boys"

Commander Dr. S. D. Ruggles of the American Legion will be chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Luncheon to be held Thursday evening at the United Brethren church when the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic, those brave heroes of the Civil War, will be fittingly honored. The G. A. R. veterans of the county are invited to be the guests of the Chamber on this evening. The ranks of the G. A. R. members are dwindling rapidly and all G. O. C. members and members of all other patriotic organizations in the city are invited to attend the luncheon to pay honor to the veterans.

Final arrangements for the luncheon were made at a meeting of the Forum Steering Committee Monday afternoon. Dr. Ruggles of the Legion was selected as chairman. Rev. E. A. Powell who is a veteran of the Boer war will deliver the main address followed by remarks by Commander J. J. Davidson of Bailey Post, G. A. R. The musical end of the program will be well taken care of. The Spanish war veterans have been invited to have a fife and drum corps present and the American Legion is expected to be represented on the musical program by four buglers who will sound the different calls.

Foster Krake, community singing leader will have charge of the group singing and will also give vocal number. Harold Walker will be the pianist. Cards were sent out to all G. O. C.

members today and all who expect to attend are urged to return the cards early so arrangements may be made to take care of a large number.

BIG REUNION OF SOLDIERS OF '61-65 IS SUGGESTED

Lucasville, Ohio, May 21, 1921. The Times.
At a meeting of the members of Battery 11, held last September, a resolution was adopted requesting the good citizens of Portsmouth to join with the soldiers in perfecting arrangements for the holding of a big Reunion of all the old Soldiers of '61-65' residing in Scioto and nearby counties in Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia.

We desire now to call the attention of the public to this action of Battery 11, with the hope that the people of Portsmouth will co-operate with the different Regimental and Company organizations in the proper preparation for one more grand Reunion of the Soldiers of the Civil War.

We suggest that the Reunion be held about the middle of next September, and in order to make it a success, no time should be lost in making proper preparations. These preparations should be entrusted to Bailey Post, Sons of Veterans, Woman's Relief Corps, aided by the Spanish-American Soldiers and the Boys of the World War. We further suggest that each of the said five organizations, appoint separate committees of three or more to constitute an Executive Committee of fifteen or more to carry out the objects and intent of our resolutions. This Reunion (perhaps the last of its kind) should be advertised in every county in Southern Ohio, and the near-by counties in Kentucky and West Virginia.

We are calling attention to this matter now that it may be talked over and discussed on next Memorial Day.

We know that such a Reunion as we contemplate will not only gladden the hearts of the old Soldiers and their families, but also will be a testimony to the patriotic appreciation of the people of today for the services rendered by the Civil War Veterans in preserving and maintaining this great Republic.

Keep the fires burning brightly. Respectfully: Battery 11, 1st Ohio Light Artillery.
By ABE DOLL, President.
W. H. MASSIE, Secretary.

Invite Boy Scouts

Boy Scouts of Portsmouth, Attention!
You are all invited to be the guests tonight for a special showing of moving pictures of peculiar interest to scouts, of Troop No. One of the First Presbyterian church.

Scoutmaster Pride asks you to come first to the First Presbyterian gym, at eight o'clock, entering by the Third street door. From there you will go in a body to the entertainment room for the pictures, after the Bible School has vacated the room.

Two boy scout films will be shown, "The Boy Scout and His Uniform" following your uniform from one end of the factory to where it emerges, a finished product, and "Every Swimmer a Life-Saver" which will demonstrate in most graphic and thrilling fashion how drowning need not happen if a boy scout be on hand, and be prepared. These films are made possible by special arrangement with the American Red Cross.

In addition to these by the courtesy and assistance of Mr. F. W. Heinel and Will Harris of the Chamber of Commerce two other reels will be shown, demonstrating "Safety First". One is "Public Safety" by courtesy of the United Railroads of St. Louis, and the other, "The Menace" by courtesy of the National Sprinkler Association.

Mr. Heinel will make a few remarks specially explaining the safety films and there will no doubt, be other speakers. Paul Cloggett will handle the movie machine.

Decoration Day We Pay Homage to the Boys In Blue and Khaki

Who have bought liberty and independence for us at the cost of the "supreme sacrifice." It matters not whether they fought and died many years ago — or but a few years — the memory of these departed heroes will live. And we will pray for them as long as the Stars and Stripes wave over and protect a Republic of God-loving and free people forever. Every true American should display the Stars and Stripes Decoration Day.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN MOVIES TONIGHT

At seven-thirty tonight the First Presbyterian Bible School young folks will have their May moving picture entertainment at the church. Five reels will be shown, of a most interesting character and the usual large audience is expected. Parents are invited to attend with their children, they not being required to pay tickets. Showing, membership in the school. Paul Cloggett, as usual, will handle the machine.

GREENUP

Miss Clara Patton, 15 year old daughter of Lee Patton, who was operated upon for appendicitis at the Marling Hospital and later returned to her home in the Stant ambulance, has returned to the hospital. She is suffering a relapse.
Ruby, 18 year old daughter of Ed Blum of Humeville, Ky., was taken to the Marling Hospital in front of the Stant Undertaking Co's ambulance where an operation was immediately performed for appendicitis. She is getting along nicely.
Stephen McGinnis was born Feb. 12, 1883, and died on May 10, 1921, at his home at Hoods, Ky. He was 38 years, 2 months and 7 days old. He is survived by his wife and the following children, Martin, John, Henry, David, Alice and Bertha. The deceased was a member and a very faithful worker of the Christian church. Burial today in the McGinnis cemetery. Rev. Newton Crisp having charge of the services.

Mrs. Green Hartley Oldtown visited relatives in Greenup today. The Federal Asphalt Co. of Hamilton, O. received the work of paving the streets of Greenup. Their bid was the lowest of three, being $4,000. The citizens of Greenup are planning to observe Decoration Day in a fitting and patriotic manner. The Citizens Band will be out with their splendid music and the school children will march to the cemetery to decorate the graves of our old soldiers. It is expected that Dr. A. S. Brady will make a speech on that day as no Memorial Day is complete without one of his patriotic addresses.
Cloline 4 months old daughter of H. J. Moore of Tulza, Ky., died May 22. She is survived by her parents and two sisters, Maxine and Doris May. Burial in the Grain Creek cemetery May 23.

Your Manners

It Is Correct

For a mother whose daughter has been invited to an entertainment to which she was not asked, to send her card when the daughter plays the duty call.

For a bachelor when calling at a house where there are several ladies, to leave two cards, one for the lady of the house and one for the others—if they are all out.

For a bachelor to leave two cards, one for the host and one for the hostess, after an entertainment for which he received an invitation, whether or not he accepted.

It Is Not Correct

For a husband and wife to send more than one card each when unable to attend a reception for which the invitations were issued in the name of the hostess.

To send more than one of the wife's cards and two of the husband's when the invitations were issued in the names of both the host and hostess.

For an invited guest who does not attend the entertainment, to neglect to send a separate card to the daughter if her name appeared on the invitation.

For the cards to be sent before or after the day of the function.

To neglect to inclose the cards in an envelope.

Healthy Mother Merry Children Happy Home

To maintain a happy home the housewife must keep in good health. Her duties are many and various, and it seems as if every other member of the family depended very much on her.

"Where is my hat?" cries the boy.
"What did you do with my coat?" asks the daughter.
"I can't find any handkerchiefs," yells the husband.

The housewife is usually the advisor and general manager of the family.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helps women to maintain a happy home by keeping them in good health.

Bloomington, Ill.—"I have taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has done me a wonderful sight of good. I was never very strong and female trouble kept me weak so that I had no interest for my housework. I had such a backache I could not cook a meal or clean up a room without raging with pain. I would rub my back with alcohol and it would ease for a few hours, but after I had taken three bottles of Vegetable Compound my aches began to gradually leave me. Now I am as strong and healthy as any woman and I give my thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my health."—Mrs. J. A. McQuerry, 610 W. Walnut St., Bloomington, Ill.

When the Chinaman came from the tool-house he was dragging a long coil of hose and proceeded to fasten it to a water plug.

"Gracious, Stubby, he is going to squirt that cold water on us. Let's try and break loose."

The two of them pulled and tugged at their ropes, but they might as well have saved their strength, for the rope was too strong to break and the Chinaman had tied it too well to untie. So they were doomed to be soaked and squirted with cold water until the mud was washed off.

"You are no friend of mine," blurted Billy, "and if I ever get loose I will butt you to the other side of the Sierra Nevada mountains." By this time the Chinaman thought Billy Jr. was clean enough, so he turned his attention to Stubby and went through the same performance with him. But Stubby, being smaller and lighter was knocked over when the stream struck him. But the Chinaman only laughed and played the hose on him harder than ever.

He was, but half through washing Stubby, when Billy Jr. gave some peculiar tug to his rope which unfurled it, and the next Mr. Chinaman knew he was being buffeted into the house, with the hose still squirting water in a stream before him.

As they approached the house Stubby saw the owner standing in the kitchen door, and the next thing he saw was the man in the door throw up his hands to ward off the stream of water. The next thing he saw was Billy lift the Chinaman clear off the ground with one tremendous butt, which sent him through the kitchen door, knock the man down that was standing there and over their prostrate bodies flew a big white cat with hair on end and tail in air, waving like a plume.

Then the door was shut, for the Chinaman scrambled to his feet and slammed the door just as Billy was going to give him another butt.

"Jumping jingo, Button, is that you?" barked Stubby, when the white cat came nearer to him.

"Yes, and I am in a nice mess, am I not? If I go to wash this flour off I shall turn into a ball of dough."

"Oh, how funny!" laughed Stubby. "So you will?"

"Well, you would not laugh if you were a cat," said Button. "For water hurts us as we have no oil glands to oil our fur as chickens have for their feathers, and the water seems to get through our skin and chill us to the bone, and you will see, I shall catch a cold and get the mumps. Then what will I look like with my cheeks already swollen twice their natural size?"

"I am really sorry for you, Button. If that is the case, but I never knew before that it hurts cats to get wet. I just thought they did not like it. What are you going to do to get the flour off?"

"I am sure I don't know, but I know one thing, and that is, that I am going to make tracks so the Chinaman won't catch me and try to wash me as he did you and Billy."

Stubby kept very quiet as the Chinaman reappeared for fear he would seek his vengeance on him, not seeing any cat around, but when the Chinaman saw a poor little dog standing in a puddle of water shaking with the cold, he forgot his anger, and came to untie him, saying as he did so:

"Poor little doggie, you so cold. Come with me, I take you in the warm kitchen and put you back of the stove to dry."

When Button got to the stable he thought of a way to get the flour off. He would rub himself against the straw which worked like a charm and soon his coat shone like satin and he looked like a respectable cat once more.

The Woman's City Club members and guests who met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. Grant Williams on Gallia street received some genuine good advice on woman's newly given gift, "Citizenship," in an excellent address on that subject by Mrs. Charles Firth of Covington, Ky.

Mrs. Firth, a woman of much charm, who has figured prominently in civic activities in Covington and throughout Kentucky, as well as adjacent places, states that in late years, and particularly recently, it is remarkable how much enthusiasm the women have shown in the affairs of the nation, and the real good that has come out of their working beyond the trivial card club, sewing circle or cultural or literary clubs.

"We now face in two directions," she stated further—backward along the way we have come, and forward, through the years of exploration and expectations that challenge the best that is in us. Much depends upon the responsiveness to the call to service, the opportunity to serve, and the opportunity to be served, as well as we are served. We all owe our loyalty to the government under which we serve and should do everything in our power to help, whether native or foreign born. Not only should we be loyal to the country, but to the city and state in which we live.

Mrs. Firth advocated the establishment of penny lunches in the schools, where at noon, the children may obtain wholesome food at cost; also the serving of free milk to undernourished and aemic children, and the establishment of supervised public playgrounds in the school yards, with supervised recreation in the schools. She urged work on the delinquent girl problem by helping to provide arrangements to do away with the desire to do wrong and helping them into the right social strata, by developing the natural animal instinct to play and recreation, out of which comes recreation.

Not only is this recreation for the growing children, but for the woman who is now facing the greatest opportunity of all history. She is now in a position to command respectful attention and time is proving that her requests have weight with those who have always held authority.

Mrs. Firth dwelt interestingly upon other problems to be handled, in which women can give unlimited assistance, and urged more interest in civic affairs. She was given a cordial reception by the assembly, who enjoyed a delightful musical entertainment and refreshing fruit punch.

During the business meeting, the members voted to become affiliated with the movement to establish an auxiliary to the State Federated Society of Social Health.

Mrs. Isabelle Thomas had charge of the sale of the silk poppies in the interest of devastated France.

Adding much to the sociability of the afternoon were the beautiful vocal solos, "Maytime," by Mrs. O. J. Dietzler; "Daybreak," by Mrs. James Wilkerson, and musical selections by the Czerwinski Trio.

The Myotis Club will meet Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. John Bickham, 3614 High street.

Mrs. Edith M. Walker of Fifth street has for her guests her two brothers, Cecil Peggie of Williston, North Dakota, and George Peggie of the U. S. Marine Corps, who is home on a furlough, coming from Bremen, Germany, after his seventh voyage this year.

Mrs. Clarence Correll of 1611 High street will entertain the Social Club Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Anna Gardiner of this city has returned from a short visit to Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Anderson of Picketon.

"Pie—Oh Boy!"

BOYS will be boys, and they'll continue to like pie—especially if it's baked with Valier's Enterprise Flour. You can't blame them—piping hot, golden-crust and seasoned to a turn—m-m-yum!—who would wait 'till supper time!

Dad likes that kind of pie, too. So does the rest of the family. And it's a pleasure to bake them with Valier's Enterprise Flour. It produces the same fine baking week after week and month after month for its quality never varies.

You won't have needless, costly failures with Enterprise. That's one reason why it's so economical. Another is that Enterprise goes further. Its strength is concentrated. Valier's Enterprise Flour is only the white centers of the very choicest hard winter wheat. It's like cream skimmed from rich, Jersey milk—all quality.

A WIFE IN THE MAKING

BY PHYLLIS PHILLIPS

CHERRY TURNS TO JACK

Two months went by and the end of that time found Cherry well established in her new home, yet still singularly out of tune with the life that she was supposed to fit into so smoothly.

The townspeople had entertained her royally and she had been made to feel welcome in their midst, but for all that she was an entirely different Cherry from the one who had entered her husband's ancestral home some three months before.

Life had settled itself into a humdrum existence for the young couple, even as Mrs. Randall had predicted that it would, and as Wellsburg standards demanded that it should. Cherry found herself a wife with far too much time on her hands, few interests outside of the tennis club and a great hunger in her heart.

"I guess it's because I don't fit into small town life," she confided to Jack one hot August morning, after she had done her daily chores and been ordered by Mrs. Randall to "run off and do as she wanted."

"Hm! No more do I," answered that young man, promptly. "Mother might be me down with iron chains and I'd still feel like flying off to foreign lands. Neil's different, somehow. He doesn't seem to mind doing the same things every day and meeting only the same faces, week in and week out. I do. It drives me silly, sometimes."

Together, the two discontented ones planned to conjure up some interest between them. Something that would occupy their spare time as well as give them pleasure. It was Cherry who finally hit on the idea of teaching Jack the violin. She had studied it in Chicago and had always been just slightly fond of music. Jack was delighted with the suggestion, for the saxophone had begun to pull, and besides a violin was real art.

Cherry ran up to her room as soon as they had decided on this scheme, and for the rest of the morning the woods behind the house resounded to the sobbing notes of the violin.

Jack's mornings being free until school opened again, he threw himself heart and soul in this new and fascinating study, much to his teacher's delight and his mother's despair.

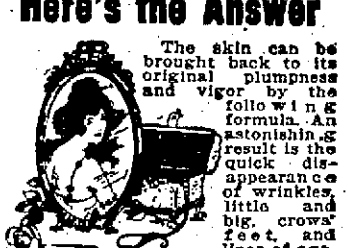

Their first morning was almost spoiled by Mrs. Randall's sharp criticism at the luncheon table, after she had discovered that the two had devoted three hours and more to "such nonsense."

"I declare I don't know what to do with you, Jack," she remarked with her small sniff. "Instead of studying to fit yourself for a sensible profession in life you prefer to sit around and fiddle. I do hope Cherry does not seriously intend giving you lessons every day? Our family has never been artistic, thank goodness, and I don't want it to become so now. Nor any member of it to become one of those terrible creatures called artists."

Wrinkles Coming?

Here's the Answer

The skin can be brought back to its original plumpness and vigor by the following formula. An astonishing result is the quick disappearance of wrinkles, little and big, crow's feet, lines of age, etc. It is simple and can be prepared in a few moments, by adding to half a pint of water one tablespoonful of glycerine and two ounces of epilo; obtained from your druggist. This takes years from your appearance, and is always sure and positive in its work if you will apply it liberally every day.

And If the Hair Is Thinning Strengthening and enlarging the roots of the hair is one of the real secrets of hair care. The new method just mentioned can be forced to grow several inches a month. Hair will stop falling out if by massaging the scalp with the hair oil, the new vigor of the hair will be quickly noticed, and bald spots will be soon entirely filled out with new growth. This can all be easily obtained by the simple use of betatone, which can be secured at any drug store in the original one-ounce package. This can be mixed at home with a half pint of bay rum and a half pint of water, or with witch hazel, for you prefer. It contains no oil whatever.

To Cleanse Hair and Scalp As to head-wash, you are advised against using soap or the many shampoos sold, because of the alkali they contain. This dries up hair secretions. Get a package of egg yolks at the drug store and dissolve a teaspoonful of it in half a cup of water. You can get enough cream for twenty-five cents for a dozen or more head-washes. It is invaluable in cleansing the scalp and making the hair wonderfully in making hair grow.

This Remarkable Gain Made by J. D. Douglas, Gives Proof of the Wonderful Powers of Nerv-Worth as a Strengthener and Builder. Let it Build You Up Before Colder Weather Comes.

"I weighed only 128 pounds after recovering from the flu last year," said J. D. Douglas, Cantonburg, Ark. "Ashland, I had no appetite and was very weak. My wife induced me to try Nerv-

Worth, which I did, and the first bottle helped me so much that I bought another, and during this time I gained 22 pounds. I can cheerfully recommend Nerv-Worth to any one. There is an example of an actual case, and shows the wonderful strengthening powers of Nerv-Worth. Everybody needs a tonic in the fall, and the tonic you take should be one that will strengthen you and build you quickly. ## Jap And Mexican Snarls

The hope is expressed here, however, that the protocol may avoid any such imputations and that it will be simply a treaty which will make it possible for two neighboring countries to continue in peaceful relationship.

U. S. Requests Not Unreasonable

The requests of the United States that retroactive articles of the Mexican constitution shall be eliminated so as to preserve American property lawfully acquired before the constitution of 1917 was adopted are really not unreasonable. Americans have looked to Mexico for a large part of the world's oil supply and the wells there are going dry and it is estimated that in another eighteen months the present wells will have become practically valueless. This means that new sources of supply must be opened up unless American interests can secure permits to drill new wells under favorable conditions, other European interests may creep in and obtain control of the petroleum there.

Sumnerlin has the confidence of the Department of State to a unusual degree and will handle negotiations in person.

That Jap Row May Be Worked Out

As the controversy with Japan over the island of Yap, matters are moving along satisfactorily for our government. The Japanese have no means closed the door against discussion, indeed they have not assumed a definite position. Discussion is being carried on informally orally. As soon as an agreement is reached it may be reduced to writing without the necessity of a prolonged period of note writing. The Yap question is before the Supreme Council, but if the United States and Japan could reach a direct agreement it would be far more satisfactory to Japan than to be in the position of being required to obey a request from the Supreme Council to give back something previously awarded her. The way out, of course, is an agreement to internationalize the land of the island of Yap so it doesn't belong to the United States or Japan but to all the powers equally and governed by an international commission which would safeguard all interests.

Both Nations Need Business

Japan is not particularly disturbed over the disposition of Yap—or rather she would not be if Japanese-American relations showed signs of getting better. The negotiations which have been carried on both here and in Tokyo indicate clearly to the Japanese that the Harding administration is not going around with a chip on its shoulder but is anxious to have a friendly understanding with the Japanese so that the road ahead may be traveled by both countries without suspicion. The economic interests of the United States as well as Japan are straining for expansion and on the prompt settlement pending disputes depends the development of commerce and business relations in the Far East. Both governments know that and are trying by diplomacy to get a clean slate.

The Easiest Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

Another Great Sale of the Famous Eagle Shirts at Andersons'

This Time At Only $1.30

These shirt sales which we have been holding at the rate of three or four a year for the past few years are growing in size and importance. We have sold thousands of these famous Eagle shirts during these special sales and we have a lot of a few more than 700 which we place on sale Wednesday at only $1.30 each.

These shirts, as you all know, are marked "slightly imperfect" but that does not mean anything for there isn't one fellow in a dozen that would even notice the defect and no one would object if they did notice it. However, they are marked "imperfects" by the makers of Eagle shirts, who maintain the most rigid standards for their first quality shirts.

In this lot of 700 shirts which go on sale Wednesday at $1.30, you will find all sizes and just about every style or pattern you would care for. Regardless of what the actual value of these shirts would be in the regular way, we place the entire lot on sale Wednesday with the prices reduced down to $1.30 for your choice.

Many men buy all the way from two to a dozen shirts at these sales.

Mayor Collett Injured In Automobile Accident

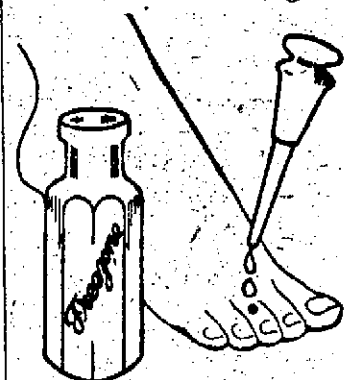

IRONTON, O., May 24.—The touring car of A. H. Ehrlich turned turtle yesterday afternoon on a little by-road near Marion and quite severely injured Mr. Ehrlich and Mayor Thomas L. Collett and slightly injured Mrs. Collett. Mrs. Ehrlich and Miss Jennie Peters, all of whom were in the car at the time of the accident. Mr. Ehrlich was driving and he ran over to the edge of a creek bank to allow another car to pass him. The weight of the Ehrlich car crumpled the soft sand and earth along the embankment and the car rolled down the declivity a distance of ten feet and landed bottom side up in the creek in which was running about three inches of water. Seeing the predicament of the Ehrlich party the man who had passed with his car stopped and rushed back to the scene of the accident to assist in the rescue of the five Ironton folks under the big Buick. The women were taken out first and they were not injured to any serious extent, although they were all wet, bruised and scratched. Mr. Ehrlich was pinned under a seat and Mr. Collett was prostrate in the water. Both were quite severely bruised and scratched, but it is not believed that either was seriously hurt. A telephone call to Wilbur Jones brought a car and the party were brought to their homes here. Dr. Wells was called to examine Mr. Ehrlich but the result of the examination developed the fact that he was not dangerously hurt. It was a very narrow escape for the entire party.

Confederation Of British-America Is Planned

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 24.—Establishment of a confederation of British-America, to include Canada and the British colonies of the Bahamas, Barbados, Bermuda, Jamaica, the Leeward Islands, Trinidad, the Windward Islands and possibly British Honduras and British Guiana, was reported here today in official circles to be under consideration in the British possessions of North, South and Central America.

The idea of a united commonwealth of British-America was represented in the report as a further development of the union which began with the confederation of the four provinces of Canada in 1847.

Reference was had to the conference which was held in Ottawa, June, 1920, and attended by representatives of all the British colonies of the Americas for the purpose of drawing up a trade agreement since ratified by a majority of the colonies concerned.

Have You Had Your Coffee Cocktail Today?

NEW YORK, May 24—Have you had your "coffee cocktail" today? This is not a new drink. It is an old favorite served in a new way. The "coffee cocktail" is the latest refinement in hotel and restaurant service. It is a small cup of coffee served before the guest orders his meal. This appetizer gives zest to the meal and puts the patron in a pleasant frame of mind. Also there is no charge for it. It derives its nickname from the fact that it is served at a time when certain drinks once known in America before the Volsteadian Age were usually consumed. The custom was first introduced by E. M. Starler at the Hotel Pennsylvania in this city and is proving very popular. Similar coffee appetizers are served on the diners of some through express trains.

Chalmers Unequalled Motor Car Investment

The Chalmers is a motor car investment of unequalled value. Primarily, because it is a fine, rich car at a reasonable price. But also because upkeep charges are low.

The Chalmers needs little shop work and attention. That means that replacement and repair costs are held to a minimum.

This is of vast importance in determining motor car value and has cemented the loyalty of Chalmers owners.

Chalmers Motor Wonderful

It is largely due to the wonderful Chalmers motor that upkeep costs are held down. By heating the fuel with the hot-spot, Chalmers engineers have measurably improved motor performance.

More power is secured from less gasoline. The motor warms up more quickly, and accelerates faster, and runs more smoothly. But little carbon forms, as the combustion is very much better. Thus the Chalmers runs over longer periods without overhauling.

Chalmers Is Beautiful

But it is not its fine performance alone that makes Chalmers owners so enthusiastic. The Chalmers is also a beautiful car, with fine appointments, and a comfortable car.

We would appreciate an opportunity to demonstrate to you in actual performance the details of Chalmers superiority.

Giving Your Feet a Wide-Awake Look

Here is an oxford shaped to brighten and give life to the natural lines of your feet. It is good style. The foot settles comfortably into this shape. You will like to look at these oxfords and to wear them.

You'll like it in Russia calf. Shown in all leathers. Very popular at this low price.

Men Who Have Foot Troubles

Time was when a comfort shoe, strictly so, had little style. But here is a combination wide-toe shoe with a narrow heel—yet it has real style and character. It has a snug thin instep and it fits around the bottom and top of the heel. Men who have been compelled to wear high shoes can now have perfect comfort and fit in oxfords.

Shown in a variety of leathers in both oxfords and shoes. Strong, long-lasting sole, beautifully stitched.

IRONTON YOUTH RIDES FREIGHT TRAIN HERE

They ride freight trains at all ages. James Nicely, a ten-year-old lad was picked off an N. & W. freight train in East Portsmouth last night. He said his home was in Ironton and his father was Nolan Nicely of that city. The youth was held until the police came and got him and they will notify his parents that he is being held here.

"Oh, I just wanted to ride, that's all," Nicely told the officers why he ran away from home.

An Old Fashioned Revival

A large audience heard E. P. Gust last eve on the subject "What it cost to be a sinner." The old saying is "that Monday is always blue" but we have changed our minds about it after seeing the many that came out.

It cost Adam his home in Paradise or the Garden of Eden, to be a sinner or to listen to the deceiver. It cost Nebuchadnezzar a great deal to be a sinner. He was driven from among men. His hair grew as eagle feathers and his nails as claws of eagles, a beast heart was given him and he was made to eat straw like the ox. Yes it cost him a whole lot to be a sinner. It cost Belshazzar his kingdom and throne. He was "weighed in the balances of God and found wanting." This kingdom was divided. That night in his drunken revelry he lost his life and his son. Have you ever stopped to count the cost? Just what will it cost you to be a sinner? Well it may cost you your life and more than that, like the rich fool it may cost you your soul and banishment from God forever. Better get right with God. Accept Jesus and be a Christian.

Services again this evening at seven o'clock standard time (7 p. m.). The subject of the message will be, "The Cry of the Perishing." Old time kingdom songs will be used during these services. Services each evening this week if the Lord wills.

Come one and all. You have a welcome here. Corner Grandview and Robinson Ave.

"Zero Love"
Note—All musical settings for Black Beauty especially arranged by Wm. A. Spitzer.

"Black Beauty," known and loved for forty years in every part of the world where books are read, has come to life. The wonderful horse whose autobiography was recorded by Anna Sewell to delight millions of readers in every civilized country on earth is to be seen in action. His life through all its changing phases of playful colthood, early pleasures, trials and fears; its contacts with the lives of other horses and of humans; its hardships, danger and triumph will be unfolded on the motion picture screen.

"Black Beauty" faithfully rendered as a Vitaphone all star special from the phenomenally popular story by Anna Sewell will be shown at the Eastland theatre tonight.

At the charm, the vital interest and the pathos of the wonderful story have been retained in the visualized version produced under the most extraordinary difficulties ever met and triumphantly overcome in carrying out a motion picture enterprise. The story of "Black Beauty," complete to the smallest detail and incident, is presented in the picture version as it is in the "Autobiography of a Horse" put forth by the world-famous author.

Every equine character in the book is present in the Vitaphone special production, and every human character as well. In the film version a thrilling romantic drama is woven about the humans, and in many phases of this "Black Beauty" participates and always in accordance with the conduct and the mental processes of the most famous horse in fiction, previously described by Anna Sewell.

Closing Tonight, The Exhibit Theatre Presents the Monroe Salisbury Players in "The Barbarian," a great thrilling drama of the northwoods with Monroe Salisbury and Jane Novak.

Breathing the mangle of the great northern outdoors with their vast sweeps of primitive woodland, dotted by giant trees and limpid domain lakes, "The Barbarian" a Pioneer attraction acquainted one of the most worthwhile pictures of the year, will be the featured attraction at the Exhibit theatre closing tonight.

Monroe Salisbury, remembered for his exceptional characterizations in many pictures of the past year, is starred, being supported by a picked cast of players headed by Jane Novak, who has been declared by critics to have the most beautiful eyes in film-dom.

A story of a tremendous man's fight between right and wrong, "The Barbarian" was written by Theo. Seixus Solomon and adapted for the screen by E. P. Heath from whose scenario Donald Crisp directed the picture. The story concerns a man who has lived since boyhood in the woods far away from the strife and struggles of metropolitan civilization. He is a financial graduate, covets the woodsman's property and by a trick obtains it. The young woodsman's fight to regain what is rightfully his and at the same time win the love of Heatherton's daughter makes this one of the most powerful dramatic photoplays that the screen has had to offer in a long time.

In a game that was as full of thrills as a jazz selection, the Champion Solvays, getting the breaks, but playing the game right up to the hilt, won the season at the Seventeenth street yards, last evening, when they nipped the Selby Arch Preservers by the tight squeeze of 3 to 2, thus placing themselves on a tie for first place in the Industrial League. It was one of the best played contests ever played in the league, the fielding being fast while the pitchers were quite strong with base hits. The last change does not apply to the work of Ed Mowery who started the game for the Selbys, for all three runs secured by the Champs were negotiated off Mowery, who lasted three innings, yielding five hits and three runs. "Boss" Spence went to the slab for the Arch Preservers at the start of the fourth inning, and held the Champs firmly, but one man reaching first base, and that being on wild ones. Better pitching has not been seen on the lot this year, and it looks as though Spence has rounded into form. If so, the Selbys will be well fortified in the box and need not give this department any serious consideration.

"El" Rollins, who worked for the Champs, pitched his usual heady and steady game. He allowed but five hits, and was as steady as an eight day clock. He walked but one man, that purposefully, and while he crawled out of a tight hole in the sixth frame when he was found for a couple of doubles nevertheless that was all to his credit. Getting out of small holes shows intelligence of the highest order, for anyone can crawl through a wide gap.

Pitcher Rollins was given gill-edge support by his team mates, particularly on the part of "Shorty" Kitch, who had another large evening, curling for eleven of his dozen frames. The error Captain Shultz made did not count in the scoring and did not prolong the struggle several seconds.

Groh in center for the Selbys had a nice large day roaming the middle garden. He captured five long hits, and not only had the satisfaction of pelting out a single that should have been a double, but looked so dangerous up at the plate in the sixth that Mr. Rollins chose the better part of wisdom and walked him purposely—even though Groh is no kin to Babe Ruth.

The Solvays held the enemy safe in the first half and then went right out and made a couple of very necessary runs. Blake led off with a slashing single to right, and went to second on Shultz's very artistic sacrifice. Blake came all the way home when Collis tossed wide on Kitch's roller, and Kitch came home when Potts drove a huge triple to middle. Samson was hit by a pitched ball and it looked as though the Champs would score a million runs. Mowery settled down however, and got Cole on a loftier to left and forced Frizzell to roll an easy chance at third, the Champs made one more run. Potts led off with a line single to right and on the hit and run, "Chuck" Samson shot a single to the same spot, Potts taking third. On Cole's roller to second, Potts rambled home. The next two batters went out in order. Spence went in at the start of the fourth round and as said before, the Champs got but one man to first.

The Selbys made one in the fourth. Elliott singled to left. On Kearns' hard smash to short, Elliott was nipped at second, but Kitch tossed wide to first and Kearns tossed to the key-stone sack. Kearns scored on Groh's hard hit to center. Cooper then hit to center. Cooper then hit into double play. The Selbys made another and last run in the fifth. After Edwards had rolled out, Collis drove a triple to middle. Spence hit a high fly to right, which Samson caught, but which allowed Collis to come in.

In the sixth the Selbys ran into some hard luck. Keyser doubled to middle, but was tagged out by Shultz when Elliott drove to Shultz. Kearns followed with a double to center and Elliott was nailed at the plate, although he had odds of time to score. Samson went over to middle and fielded the ball and made a perfect tag to the plate. The score:

BOSTON BEATEN
CLEVELAND, May 23—Cleveland won from Boston Monday 4-1. Bagby pitched his best game of the year, holding Boston to four scattered hits. Boston escaped a shutout when McInnis tripled and scored on Scott's sacrifice fly. Luke Sewell, catcher from the University of Alabama and brother of shortstop Joe Sewell, joined the Indians today. Greasy Neale is not playing regularly with the Phils. His hitting this season has been very light and his fielding amounts to nothing in Philly, owing to the short right field fence.

PASSING OF THE DUEL

CERVANTES gave the last punch to chivalry that toppled it from its horse by making fun of it. Everybody read Don Quixote, laughed, and chivalry was done. Not even iron clothes did for the age of iron shirts a French deputy, M. Levasseur, may be doing for the age of dueling which still continues in some parts of the world, even the very modern nation of France. The other day another deputy imagined he had been insulted by Levasseur and sent his seconds around to arrange a "meeting". M. Levasseur showed the deputies two doubled-up fists and announced that these were the weapons he would use as they were all that nature had given him to fight with. The seconds went back to their principal and nothing more has been heard from the challenge.

The bare fist, American style, may be mightier than the rapier or the dueling pistol. It may be that after a while French deputies can get up and in the heat of debate say almost as many things about each other as one American congressman can say about another and get away with it. And French is a language that lends itself especially well to particularization in the matter of insult. Many things can be said in French that, in translation, would mean nothing at all to an American, but which in the original would make a Frenchman see red.

Perhaps the French boxer Carpentier who laid the champion of England, the land of beef, low with punches of his gloved fist, has had something to do with preparing the French public to accept without popular disdain the readiness of a deputy to fight with his fists to give "satisfaction" to another statesman who thought himself insulted. Blows with the fist in other days were not gentlemanly although it was perfectly gentlemanly to punch a hole in another man's chest with ball or steel, Carpentier, by showing that a Frenchman could meet boxers of England and conquer them may have made it possible for a French deputy to put ridicule on the code duello. Think of two elderly French statesmen, possibly with flowing white whiskers or spade beards, trying to bring the claret from each other's nose, or punching each other's senatorial paunch, with seconds standing by ready to swing a towel between rounds. Then and there the duel would die.

EXECUTION BY GAS

PROTECTION of life and property against the criminal and desperate is the first law of society. In some places it has been decreed that the state is never justified in carrying out the biblical "eye for an eye and tooth for a tooth" to the extent of taking the life of the criminal. Whether the punishment of a life term in a narrow cell, with the specter of one's victim ever present, be not at least as great as that of death itself, perhaps will always be a moot question.

But in those commonwealths where the death penalty is inflicted, there is still a variance in method. The rope, the bullet, the voltage of an electric current, have been the common methods heretofore. The governor of Nevada, in signing a recent bill, however, has introduced lethal gas among the sinister instruments of legal death.

The prisoner on whom the law's vengeance is to be wreaked is left in a chamber to die. The deadly gas is to be forced into this cell while the prisoner is presumably asleep. But what man could sleep in such a trap? With every breath he would smell the first scent of the fumes which he knows there is no escaping. In the effort of organized society to provide a painless death to those who must be put out of the way, let there also be an eye for their mental and spiritual makeup. It is not the law's intent to torture its victims. Death is never inviting. By gas it is far less attractive than in many other forms.

TRADE WITH RUSSIA

THERE are more reasons than those of sentiment and decency to forbid us to attempt to reopen trade relations with Russia, and the most easily understood of these is that Russia has no money with which to pay. Russia has ruined her industries and thereby has killed the goose that laid the golden egg. She has neither goods nor raw materials at hand with which to barter. She is a slave laboring for something less than a meager living beneath the whip of a cruel oppressor.

It is not as though Russia were crippled and helpless through no fault of her own. It is not as though her people were victims of some great and uncontrollable misfortune, or that they had not the power within themselves to rise up and overthrow the little gang of ruffians who have assumed to dictate to millions. In that case America could be relied upon to send her food and her millions without cost or the thought of return. But Russia bows meekly under the lash of the despoiler. She has seen him steal her wealth, eat her food and ruin her industries, and has done nothing.

WILL YOU BE THERE?

THE little remnant of the gallant hundreds who went forth from Scioto county in the dark days of the Civil War, when the fate of the nation was at stake, will be honored by the Portsmouth Chamber of Commerce, Thursday evening, when they will be the special guests at a forum meeting. The Chamber has asked that all the Spanish American and World War veterans also turn out to help pay honor to these more aged veterans, who can not be with us for many years longer. It is to be hoped that as many as possible of the veterans will be on hand for the occasion and that a crowd of such proportions will greet them as to leave no doubt as to the sincerity of the esteem in which these war veterans are held. If you haven't sent in your acceptance, do so at once.

Let's show 'em.

After all, it is the statesmanship of Foch that Germany understands best.

Conquering The Plague Of Ages

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 24.—In the conquest of leprosy, for which a specific cure has been developed by American physicians at the Hawaiian leper colony, one of the oldest and most terrible plagues of the human race has yielded to medical science.

Dr. Johnathan T. McDonald, who has been associated with the work in Hawaii for 12 years and played an important part in perfecting the cure of the disease, gives some facts about this most ancient of the filth of man and how it has yielded to treatment.

Although there are many diseases which are known to have attacked man through the ages of civilization, leprosy is undoubtedly the most ancient of them all. Records of leprosy in China go back six thousand years, or four thousand years before Christ.

Whereas Egypt is generally conceded to be the birthplace of this disease, the contagion and spread of leprosy throughout the world has been terrifying in its completeness. Scarcely a country, no matter how tiny or remote, has not at some time been touched by it. The name for the disease has been translated into every language.

In practically all cases where leprosy has been carried from one community or country to another, it has been carried by human beings for centuries have been unable to find, to date, any lower animal which can contract leprosy. In the year St. A. D. the disease was spreading all over Europe. The Romans got it from the Greeks; Pompey had carried it into Italy as early as the first century B. C. and it was common among the Jews 200 years previous to that. Later pilgrims from the Holy Land carried leprosy to England and the noble armies of the Crusaders spread it wide-ast when returning to their home lands during the tenth, eleventh and twelfth centuries. Wales, Ireland, Norway, and Sweden became so infected as to have the disease assume the proportions of a plague. The exact date when the disease invaded America cannot be traced, but it is thought probable that most of the comparative few cases in this country have been brought by returning travelers who visited the Orient.

Two Million Lepers

At the present time, according to statistics compiled by Dr. Victor G. Heiser, there are two million lepers in the world; that is, one out of every 800 inhabitants of the world is a leper. The largest number of these are in China. According to a Leprosy Conference held at Calcutta in February of 1920, it is estimated that there are approximately 750,000 lepers in India. There are several thousand in Japan and only 500 in Hawaii. In spite of the popular belief that Molokai houses a large percentage of the world's lepers, there are many cases of leprosy in Central and South American countries, and comparatively few scattered through Mexico, the West Indies, the United States and Canada. Russia and Sweden have some cases and it is common in Asiatic countries other than those above mentioned. The western coast of Africa is also seriously infected with leprosy. It can thus be seen that leprosy has not yet ceased to be a world menace.

And what methods has the world used to get rid of its oldest disease?

First of all, segregation has been practiced and secondly, medicinal attempts at remedies. Leprosy is spread by bacteria, especially those of the nose secretions, according to the most general belief, although its origin has been attributed variously to climate, too little salt in food, insanitary living conditions and eating spoiled fish.

The idea of segregating lepers occurred to mankind at an early date. Herodotus says that the Persians of his time exiled lepers. Moses, following the customs of ancient Egypt, segregated the lepers among the Jews. History shows that the Chinese went so far as to burn lepers alive. Medieval France provided lepers with rattle to warn all of their approach and enforced uniform gray for the apparel of these unfortunate.

Today all Christian countries have sanitariums or missionary hospitals for the care and segregation of these afflicted with leprosy. There are three hospitals for lepers in the United States, located in the states of Louisiana, California and Massachusetts. The hospital near Greenville, Louisiana, on the Mississippi river, was recently made a Federal Hospital for Lepers, in accordance with the law finally passed by Congress.

In Russia, lepers are exiled to Siberia. In the Fiji Islands, they are placed on green leaves of a tree supposed to possess healing qualities. The skin of the victim is slowly cooked, or seared and the leper is to survive this rough treatment, is said to recover from his disease. The reason that leprosy is so much more prevalent in non-Christian countries is said to be that the Bible impresses

Christians with the fear of leprosy. In the early days of Christianity, it was considered in full accord with Biblical teachings for communities to drive the "unclean leper" out of their midst and send him, a shunned wanderer upon the face of the earth, or even to stone him to death.

In the eastern countries the believers of other than Christian faiths do not have this great fear of the disease, and in many cases leprosy is considered an asset by beggars in that its loathsomeness will excite sympathy.

A Cure At Last

The medical philosopher Atraya, who lived in China at least 2,000 years before the Christian Era, wrote the "Charaka Samhita" on the pathology of leprosy. In it he said, "The man who neglects the disease at its commencement is sure to die, for it becomes incurable." Yet Dr. McDonald states positively that 142 cases treated in the Kalihli Hospital for Lepers have been released as cured since October, 1918. These cases have been examined by a commission appointed by the territorial Board of Health and declared to be no longer a menace to the public health. They have been set at liberty, but report to the government physicians at intervals to see that symptoms of the disease do not occur. So far not a single relapse has been noted in a period covering nearly three years. During this period of three years, Dr. McDonald has been attending physician at the Kalihli Hospital and has personally given nearly 10,000 injections of the new preparation of Chaulmoogra oil.

This oil is one of the oldest remedies used in attempts to cure leprosy and has more cures to its credit than any other remedy. It has been used since the time of Moses. The chief problem in using this oil, however, has been that the crude oil possessed the patient so that its effect was impaired.

Within the last 10 or 15 years a series of improvements in the oil preparation has been evolved from different experiments and observations made in that part of the world where leprosy is most epidemic.

Three or four years ago, Dr. A. L. Dean, president of the University of Hawaii and a distinguished chemist, began to study and investigate Chaulmoogra oil. He finally succeeded in producing ethylesters of the fatty acids of the oil in a thin liquid which has been found to be the most readily absorbed when introduced into the patients by the intramuscular route rather than into the blood vessels direct by the use of the hypodermic needle. Dr. Dean has been constantly improving upon his derivatives of the oil and his technique and methods, assisted by Dr. McDonald.

In speaking of Kalihli Hospital and the work there, Dr. McDonald says: "We have increased the number of patients in Kalihli Hospital who take this oil until every patient in the hospital is now taking the Dean Derivatives and has been doing so for several years. It is true that we have met with splendid success. The medicine is readily absorbed and the patients are gradually and slowly improving from mouth to mouth. The cases in which the disease has been caught in its earlier stages, naturally respond to the treatment most quickly."

"A great many of the patients are native Hawaiians who formerly had a dread of exile life at the settlement at Molokai. It was common among the natives to conceal a patient as soon as it was known that he had the disease, but today, as soon as a case develops, no matter if in a remote part of the islands, the friends or relatives bring the victim to the hospital at once and give him up for his new treatment. In this way we are getting cases in the earlier stages and also find them more tractable to treatment and the symptoms disappear much more readily."

"The morale of the hospital is excellent. It is pervaded by the spirit of hopefulness and confident expectation of cure and release. The patients are usually in the hospital for a period of from one to three years. Many of them are young, as leprosy like tuberculosis, is a disease of early life."

"The patients have many occupations to keep them busy and happy. They care for the flower and vegetable gardens, the live stock, and help in keeping the modern buildings attractive. They enjoy a community life of their own and have theatricals, sport contests of various kinds, dances and prayer meetings to keep them interested, contented and happy. They are given good substantial food and plenty of it."

As the very latest development in the work with the Chaulmoogra oil as used in the Dean Derivatives, Dr. McDonald pointed out the fact that Dr. Walker and Sweeney, of Hooper Foundation, connected with the University of California, have recently positively proven Dean Derivatives to kill the leprosy bacteria.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Watching a big ocean liner dock! Anxious races crowding the rails and handkerchiefs fluttering from the port holes. The deck crowded with cheering crowds, electric tension—static like—of the crowds. The ensemble brings to mind the magic aura of the bribe deep.

There is the rush of porters. The mountain high piles of luggage. Criss crossed with labels. Good people, hurrying in alphabetical array for the custom inspectors. Somewhere in the crowd is a smuggler suppressing the surge of mighty emotions.

Near the gangway a group of reporters surround a Parisian dancer, whose press agent has successfully called her Folies Bergeres triumph. She is an ankle waiter and carries a sign on her back. Her package of pictures are under her arm for distribution.

A few steps away scribes are sending a volley of questions at a captain of finance. A gentleman with a jet black beard, a Hamburg hat and a big check mustache. Every line carries his type. He is at home at Monte Carlo, St. Moritz, Fifth Avenue. He is to be carefully avoided in the card room, yet he must find his victims for his motors away to the most expensive hotel.

I have always pictured the captain as a glowering fellow—a heavy, tanned face peering from a heavy white beard. Yet the three I have seen are short, trim, well-dressed, and what the sailors do to have a good time? You've guessed it. They go rowing in the boats in the artificial lakes.

Many the Leather is the police captain for a celebrated subway pickpocket. He is a one armed fellow who is said to be the most nimble fingered of all the daps. Only once has he been arrested and then he was dismissed for lack of evidence.

Central Park is a meeting place for sailors off battleships. There are many attractions in the park—the zoological gardens, the bridge path, the obelisk, museums and art gallery. And what do the sailors do to have a good time? You've guessed it. They go rowing in the boats in the artificial lakes.

Passengers hurrying off the ship walk a bit unsteadily. It takes a brisk walk to regain their heads. The greetings at the dock are most affectionate. The loved ones have been away usually for several months. In an hour the great steamer looks deserted. Wisps of smoke flutter from the funnels and the crew scurries down the bridge to enjoy a little shore leave before the next adventure.

Mary Ann Brennan, who is perhaps better known as Lillian Lorraine, rode down Broadway the other morning. She was leaving a hospital for the first time in several months. When she was taken to the hospital Miss Lorraine had fractured her spine in a fall. Doctors did not believe that she would ever walk again. She could only move her head for many weeks. Now it is stated that she will eventually be completely well and in the Fall she expects again to return to the footlights.

Over in Bayonne, N. J. there is a woman 78 years old—bright and spry as one many years her junior. Bayonne is only a few minutes ride from the heart of New York. And yet this woman has never been in the metropolis. At night she can see the glow from the Great White Way and in the evening she often sits in her front yard and watches the dim lines of towering skyscrapers silhouetted against the sky. "I just never cared to go," she said.
